

Judge Lewis Rejects Roberts' Bid For Freedom From Jail

Woman Tells Of Illicit Love Affair

Wilkes-Barre (AP)—Jonas L. Roberts lost his bid for freedom yesterday, when the commonwealth produced testimony that the accused wife slayer bought a revolver two months before the murder and was carrying on an illicit love affair with a Shickshinny girl for five months.

Eight commonwealth witnesses were called to testify before Judge Thomas M. Lewis ruled the state had established a prima facie case against Roberts and ordered him remanded to Luzerne County Prison to await action of the grand jury, convening on August 25.

The court at the same time refused to let Roberts out of jail under bail despite a strong plea by his counsel.

The 46-year-old Edwardsville machinist is charged with homicide in the slaying of his wife, Mary, 45, the night of June 10. Roberts contends he and his wife were shot by hitchhikers. Both were found in their parked car on Route 115. His wife was dead and Roberts had been shot through the shoulder.

Thomas Slattery, Robert's attorney, asked for a habeas corpus hearing on the ground that the state has been holding his client merely on suspicion of murder and has not proved a prima facie case against him.

At yesterday's hearing, Frances Allen, 24-year-old woman from Shickshinny, told the crowded courtroom in almost inaudible tones of a series of secret romantic interludes with Roberts over a period of five months.

Following her testimony, a second surprise witness, Josue Bryant, proprietor of a bicycle shop in Kingston, Pa., told the court he had sold Roberts a .32 caliber revolver on April 12, two months before the slaying.

Bryant further testified that Roberts summoned him to his bedside at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital where he was recovering from the bullet wounds, and asked the Kingston man to identify the purchaser of the revolver according to a description in a note given him by Roberts. The description, Bryant said, did not tally with that of Roberts.

Czech Refugee Saw Hvasta

Munich, Germany, (AP)—A Czech refugee said yesterday he escaped from a Communist prison Jan. 2 with John Hvasta, the American ex-sailor jailed by Prague authorities on spy charges. The Czech said he believes Hvasta still is alive and hiding in some Slovakian village.

The story, told by Jaroslav Burec, 30, a former Czech newspaper reporter, supported the long-delayed report by the Czech government Aug. 8 to the U. S. Embassy in Prague that Hvasta had escaped with several other prisoners. State Department officials in Washington said they had no way of confirming the report or of determining Hvasta's present whereabouts.

Burec said four others—all prominent political prisoners—escaped at the same time through a hole in the ancient watch tower at Leopoldov Prison near the Slovakian provincial capital of Bratislava.

The refugee, who managed to slip across the border into West Germany, said the escape party split up into two groups at a river two miles from the prison and planned to meet later. But he said he never saw nor heard from Hvasta after that.

Burec expressed confidence the Czechoslovak government was telling the truth when it announced Hvasta had escaped and his whereabouts were not known.

"I think Hvasta is still alive and at liberty, probably hiding in some small Slovakian village," Burec said in an interview. He added that "if the Czechs had recaptured Hvasta, they would say so, because their purpose in jailing him and The Associated Press correspondent, William N. Oatis, was to extort money and other advantages from the United States."

Eisenhower Feels Confident GOP To Crack Solid South, Maps Swing Through Dixie

By The Associated Press

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, described as apparently confident the Republicans will "crack the South" in November, mapped strategy yesterday for a swing through Dixie in his bid for the White House.

Eisenhower conferred with supporters from eight Southern states and was reported to have emphasized that he is anxious to seek development of a two-party system in the traditionally Democratic South.

John Minor Wisdom, GOP national committeeman from Louisiana, told newsmen after the meeting in Denver that both Eisenhower and his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, will probably campaign in the South.

"I think the general realizes that he will crack the solid South this time," Wisdom said.

Wisdom declared Texas is a good bet to line up in the Eisenhower column, and predicted that Florida, Virginia and Louisiana may follow suit.

After meeting the Dixie group, Eisenhower conferred with Republican farm leaders—seeking advice on means to prevent a repetition of Democratic successes in the farm belt in the 1948 presidential election. Farm votes played a big part in returning Truman to the White House four years ago.

Eisenhower held a news conference later in which he said he believes the Republicans generally can do a better job of winning durable world peace than the Democrats.

He made the remark when he was asked for comment on a statement by John Foster Dulles that Eisenhower believes the Truman administration foreign policy is placing America in the greatest peril in history.

On the Democratic front, Gov. Adlai Stevenson spent three hours Monday afternoon with Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. They discussed campaign strategy in various states.

Kefauver said they also talked about President Truman's role in the coming campaign but not in specific detail.

Kefauver said he wanted his friends to support the Democratic ticket but added that many of them will not make a choice until they see how Stevenson's program develops during the campaign.

Stevenson flies to Washington today for White House strategy talks that may decide:

One—Whether President Truman should stump the country on another one of his give-'em-hell tours on behalf of Stevenson or play a more restrained role while Stevenson takes the spotlight.

Anthony Eden To Marry Churchill's Niece

London (AP)—Britain's urbane foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, will be married soon to a niece of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, Clarissa Spencer-Churchill, a vivacious blonde with blue eyes, it was officially announced yesterday.

He is 35, she is 32. He was married once before, to Beatrice Helen Beckett, whom he divorced in 1950 on grounds of desertion. The former Mrs. Eden now lives in New York.

The announcement did not say when the marriage will take place, but colleagues of the foreign secretary expected it would be "in a matter of weeks."

Miss Clarissa Spencer-Churchill was the daughter of the late Maj. John Spencer-Churchill, who died in 1947. Her mother, Lady Gwendoline Churchill, daughter of the seventh Baron of Abingdon, died in 1946.

The Prime Minister and Mrs. Churchill have taken a warm personal interest in their orphaned niece, and she was their guest last weekend at Chartwell, the Churchill country home.

Miss Spencer-Churchill was hailed in London society in 1938 as the most beautiful debutante of the year.

Millions regard Eden as the embodiment of the more charming attributes of the ideal English gentleman. His manner is polished without any suggestion of affectation and his clothes, finest products of London tailors, set fashion trends around the world.

He has known Miss Spencer-Churchill for years, and they have much in common. An interest they share is the British foreign policy, which Eden has done much to shape. During the war, while Eden was controlling grand strategy at the Foreign Office, Miss Spencer-Churchill worked in the department's communications section. She decoded telegrams and many confidential documents.

Eden had two sons by his first marriage. The elder, Simon, was lost in Burma in 1945. He was navigator of a bombing plane which failed to return from a mission. His younger son, Nicholas, is an aide to the governor general of Canada, Vincent Massey.

Ridgway Sees Threat Of War Great As Ever

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said yesterday the military means for defense of the West are "seriously inadequate in several vital categories" and that the 1952 targets for men and material might not be met. And he said the threat of war is still as big as ever.

But the supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe was full of praise for the progress that already has been made in putting together an effective machinery for defense. He said he was certain all of the problems could be solved "on the basis of mutual confidence created in the last year and a half."

Ridgway told correspondents at his first news conference at SHAPE there is "no reliable evidence known to me" that the menace of aggression has diminished.

Ridgway said he still thought it possible for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) partners to reach their goal of 25 active divisions, 25 reserve divisions and 4,000 aircraft by the end of 1952.

This statement was at slight variance with that of Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, who said in Washington the NATO powers would not reach their 50-division goal by 1952 but would "approach it."

The difficulties in meeting the commitments have created some thorny agreements among the Allies.

As to speculation that new super weapons might cause vast changes in military thinking, and lead to a lightening of the foot soldier's burden, Ridgway said such weapons certainly have a potential.

He added, however, that the effect such weapons might have is exceedingly difficult to evaluate.

The general reiterated previous statements of top SHAPE officers in favor of a 24-month period of military service. The question will come up here today at a meeting of experts to discuss standardization of the length of service among the six nations taking part in the European Army.

French Defense Minister Rene Pleven has announced France will not be able to go along, Belgium, which has had a two-year hitch, has been faced with protests and strikes and there seems to be little inclination to fight for the idea.

Ridgway said the two most serious problems facing SHAPE and the individual nations are the training of a competent officer corps and the buildup of the permanent installations necessary for conduct of military business.

Rhodes Denies Nelson Appeal, Paper Reports

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Communist Steve Nelson lost an appeal for a stay of his 20-year sentence for sedition yesterday, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette reported.

The newspaper said the decision was handed down by President Judge Chester H. Rhodes of the State Superior Court in Philadelphia.

Meanwhile, charges here that Nelson and five other indicted Communists faced prejudice in current Federal Court proceedings because of statements appearing in a Pittsburgh Sunday newspaper were overruled by Federal Judge William A. Stewart.

The court told counsel for the Communists: "This is not a jury trial."

Judge Refuses Italy's Request To Extradite LoDolce To Face Charge In Holohan Slaying

Buffalo, N. Y., (AP)—A federal judge refused yesterday to order an ex-GI back to Italy to face a murder charge in the "deuce of spades" slaying of a wartime cloak and dagger major.

District Judge John Knight refused Italy's request for extradition of Carl G. LoDolce on the ground that Italy was not in control of the place where the crime was committed.

A short time later, an attorney representing the Italian government indicated he expected Italy to drop the case. "I don't believe the Italian government will want to take any further steps," Francis Di Barolo told newsmen.

LoDolce, a 30-year-old former Army sergeant from Rochester, was accused of shooting Maj. William V. Holohan during a secret OSS mission in Northern Italy in December, 1944.

Judge Knight held that the Treaty of 1868 providing for extradition was not effective inasmuch as the place where the crime was committed was occupied then by German armies.

LoDolce is a patient in a Veterans hospital at Buffalo with a back injury suffered in Italy.

At Asbury Park, N. J., where he is visiting, Joseph H. Holohan, brother of the slain major, said, "There are a lot of people in this country and in Italy who will breathe easier over the decision." He did not elaborate. Holohan spells the family name differently than his brother.

Also accused in the slaying was former Lt. Aldo Icardi of Pittsburgh, a third OSS man on the mission. Italy has made no move to extradite Icardi since a move in Federal Court in Pittsburgh was dismissed in April.

When the Defense Department first made the case public nearly a year ago it said that LoDolce, Holohan and Icardi were sent behind the German lines to assist the Italian underground.

The department added that Icardi and Holohan disagreed over how much arms to give Communist partisans. It charged that Icardi hatched a plot to get rid of Holohan.

The department said that at first poison was put in Holohan's soup.

"Fearing the poison would not be effective and that Holohan would discover the plot," the department said, "Icardi decided that he would have to be shot. The conspirators drew cards and LoDolce drew the two of spades."

Two American Destroyers Hit By Reds

Tokyo, (AP)—Two U. S. destroyers and a British frigate were hit by Communist shore battery fire and all suffered casualties in the past week of Korean fighting.

One American and one British sailor was killed and a total of 14 wounded.

Far East Naval Headquarters announced today the ships struck by Red gunfire were the U. S. destroyers J. R. Pierce and Barton and the British frigate Mounts Bay.

Two other U. S. destroyers, the Soley and Van Valkenburgh, were fired upon but not hit, the Navy said. All continued in action to suppress Communist shore fire.

Boatswain's mate third class Dale P. Gray, Wenatchee, Wash., was killed by a burst of shell fragments that hit the Barton.

One seaman was killed and four were wounded seriously aboard the Mounts Bay.

The seaman aboard the J. R. Pierce was hospitalized. The Navy said three required hospitalization. The names were not available in Tokyo.

Mossadegh Now Virtual Dictator

Tehran, Iran, (AP)—Premier Mohammad Mossadegh was handed unprecedented powers yesterday to rule his troubled country by decree for the next six months.

In a complete about-face, the Senate gave final approval to a single article bill already passed by the lower house (Majlis)—giving Mossadegh authority never before concentrated in the hands of one man in Iran since the adoption of the nation's modern Constitution.

Opposition in the Senate, which last week won a postponement of the bill's approval, faded away yesterday as Nationalist crowds gathered outside the Parliament building.

Only two of the 35 senators present voted no on the bill. One of the opponents was Mossadegh's own son-in-law, Mith Dastari, who branded the measure unconstitutional.

When the Senate finished its vote, the crowds outside swelled to about 200 persons who cheered for Mossadegh.

In approving the near dictatorial powers to the Premier, the Senate virtually voted away the legislative voice of Parliament during the six-month period.

Mossadegh now can rule as he wishes over nearly every facet of Iranian life without having to answer to anyone. At the end of the half-year period, the bill provides he can—if he wants to—ask Parliament to make into law any of the measures he thinks have done good.

Draft Of 19-Year-Olds May Come Soon, Says Spokesman

Washington, (AP)—Selective Service may have to dip into its pool of 19-year-olds soon, a spokesman said yesterday.

Young men 20 and older are still being used to fill draft calls across the nation, the spokesman reported, and as far as it is known here no local draft board is now calling 19-year-olds.

But increased needs for manpower in the nation's armed forces may force Selective Service to turn to the younger category, he said. The official asked not to be quoted by name.

The stepped-up tempo of the draft was emphasized by a call yesterday for 47,000 draftees in October—a 17,000 increase over the 30,000 asked for September.

The Army, the only service now taking draftees, said the bigger number is needed because men inducted during late 1950 are nearing the end of their tours and must be replaced. The Navy and Air Force have relied on volunteers to keep up to strength and the Marine Corps stopped taking in draftees last May.

The official who said 19-year-olds may have to be called up soon emphasized that Selective Service could not estimate when that might be necessary. He said no moves had been taken to end an order issued by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director aimed at filling quotas with older men before 19-year-olds were drafted generally.

When the order was issued last Jan. 25, Selective Service officials said some boards were being forced to draft 19-year-olds because of unequal distribution of manpower. The official said yesterday that only a very small number of men in that age group had been inducted.

Two Solons Urge Session

Washington, (AP)—Two Midwest Democrats urged President Truman yesterday to call a special anti-inflation session of Congress and later reported Truman was alarmed about rising prices.

The government's cost-of-living index is now at an all-time peak and appears to be edging toward even higher levels.

Reps. Karsten (D-Mo) and Price (D-Ill) talked about the situation with Truman at the White House, but said they got "nothing definite" from him.

"The President certainly realizes the danger that is in store from these rising prices," Karsten told newsmen. "He is alarmed about it. We told him we felt he should do something about prices and that a special session was his only weapon."

Protection Money May Not Be Deducted From Income Tax

Washington, (AP)—The U. S. Tax Court held yesterday you cannot deduct protection money from your income tax, even if the payments are made in a cozy, semi-official arrangement with a city.

The court made the ruling in the case of Charles A. Clark, of Tracy, Calif.

Clark told the court he used to have an arrangement with the city of Tracy under which he was allowed to operate illegal slot machines in his cafe and in other places in the city, so long as he paid the city $25 a month for each machine.

The court in its ruling said Clark paid the city—by check, through the chief of police—$9,425 in 1944, $11,000 in 1945 and $11,800 in 1946.

The court said Clark made the deductions under the heading of "taxes, licenses, and permits" but that the city issued him no permit, and the operation of slot machines was illegal in California.

About each three months, the court said, the chief of police of Tracy issued a complaint against Clark before a city judge. Clark was not served with the complaints the court said, but was nonetheless recorded as pleading guilty and forfeiting bail.

The court called this a "sham" arrangement, and ordered Clark to pay income tax on the amounts he had paid to the city.

Drive Follows Air Raid On Chemical Plant

Seoul (AP)—Fighting U. S. Marines swept over bloody Siberia Hill east of Panmunjom last night and then won a strategic ridge overlooking the hill.

Their drive cleared the Western Front position near the truce conference site of stubborn Chinese Red defenders and left nobody alive on the crest.

A First Marine Division officer said "There is nobody alive on Siberia Hill this morning."

The Leathernecks, striking with flame-throwers and grenades inflicted heavy casualties. The drive carried them all the way to the ridge that commands Siberia Hill.

It was the sixth time that the Marine outpost had changed hands since Chinese Reds seized it Saturday morning.

Bitter fights have raged around the knob for the past few days.

The Leathernecks and Chinese fought fierce hand-to-hand clashes. Artillery and mortar barrages from both sides crashed on the hill.

When the Chinese held Siberia, Allied warplanes attacking in waves scared and blasted its slopes.

Flame-throwing tanks and infantry attacked at 10:30 last night. They stormed up the slopes of Siberia, cleaning out bunker after bunker with grenades and flame-throwers.

Then they swept on up Bunker Ridge, overlooking the hill.

The spokesman said Red casualties were believed to be very heavy, "both at Siberia Hill and at Bunker Ridge."

He described Allied casualties as very light.

The fighting was over by 3 a.m. today.

The Marines launched their attack on Siberia as a diversionary sweep for the main thrust at Bunker Ridge, considered more important strategically.

In the air war, United Nations warplanes smashed a sprawling North Korean chemical plant yesterday.

The target was north of Namsonk, about 30 miles northwest of the bombed wreckage of Wonsan on Korea's Northeast Coast. Smoke billowed from fires and explosions in 29 buildings and a power station.

"Our bombs were all right on the button," said Lt. Robert D. Payne of Smithville, Mo.

The chemical installation was hit by 150 lighter-bombers, including U. S. Marine Corsairs. They unloaded more than 140 tons of bombs and raked the area with repeated strafing runs.

Other fighter-bombers pounded Communist supply buildings at Haeju, near Parallel 38 on Korea's West Coast, and seared Red positions along the winding battlefront.

U. S. Sabre jets probably destroyed one MIG and damaged another in renewed air battles, the Fifth Air Force said.

Foxtown Hill Job Held Up For Material

Work on the Foxtown Hill project to widen Route 611 still is being held up, the result of the prolonged steel strike.

An official of Collins and Maxwell, Easton contractors said yesterday the delay in finishing the 2.17 miles stretch was due to the supply of blacktop material, received on allocation from Bethlehem Steel Co. He added that as soon as the blacktop was available, work would begin.

All that remains to be completed, the official said, was to blacktop the five-foot strip along both sides of the highway and center lanes. Work was halted July 15 when it was reported the road was about 25 percent complete.

Collins and Maxwell started work on the highway from Route 50 to Delaware Water Gap June 3 after receiving the contract for 60 working days for their bid of $148,740.

Adele Mulrooney Studio Retains Old Weaving Art

By Robert Staph

Greentown—The art of hand-weaving a craft once practiced in almost every household but one which all but disappeared with the advent of the power loom and the mass production of textiles is being demonstrated here daily at the studio of Adele Mulrooney.

This ancient craft, which dates back so far that historians have been unable to fix the exact time of its beginning, is carried on at the Mulrooney studio by a staff of weavers, all specialists in color and design. They use not only the traditional vegetable and animal fibers but the "miracle" yarns developed by science in the past few years.

These "man-made" yarns, unlimited in supply and variety, have opened up new fields for the weaver's loom and have enabled the fullest expression of the art of the hand-weaver. A visit to the Greentown studio of Adele Mulrooney will reveal that this "new look" is manifest in the products of her looms.

Although the materials are modern, the mechanics of weaving remain almost as they were when primitive man suspended the "warp" fibers from the limb of a tree and worked in the "weft" by hand with some sort of a needle.

In the weaving process, the warp, or longitudinal fibers, is wound, "beamed," threaded in the design and tied up. The weft is selected and wound on bobbins, shuttles are made ready and the magic of the weaver is ready to begin.

Weaving, however, is an art that requires a high degree of exactness and therefore careful study and a precise plan is made of the work to be done before the shuttle is "laid in." Many of the patterns are woven on small pattern looms before they are placed into production on the full-sized looms.

Mrs. Mulrooney, who became interested in the weaving art as a hobby about 10 years ago, designs both the pattern of the cloth and the products for which it is used, giving each piece individuality through subtlety of pattern and boldness of color, or, conversely, boldness of pattern and delicate shadings of color.

Her creations include evening and cocktail bags, the smaller clutch handbags, shoulder bags for sports wear, a scarf or a stole with its own matching bag. Yardage is also woven for evening wraps, jackets, skirts and suitings as well as material for drapery and for upholstery.

Since the production is limited to a small yardage, many of these creations are of one of a kind or in a very limited quantity. The buyer, therefore, has a customized, original article—a real "exclusive."

In addition, Mrs. Mulrooney's creations are of a more or less classic style—as ultra-smart as the latest Paris fashion yet having a quality that will make the piece just as attractive and fashionable tomorrow, or years in the future, as it is at the present moment.

Distribution of the work of the Greentown studio is on a limited scale. A number of gift shops in the Poconos are using some of the creations as is a Nantucket Island shop but for the most part each piece is ordered, designed, woven, fabricated and delivered at loom-side.

The Mulrooney studio is located about two and one-half miles north of Newfoundland, just off Pennsylvania Route 507. Studio hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Superstitions Of Pow-Wow Believers Related To Club

How to get rid of witches, goblins and warts were among the cures which members of the East Stroudsburg Exchange Club heard at their meeting last night.

Pointing out the similarity between some forms of modern psychosomatic medicine and the ancient "pow-wow" of the Pennsylvania Dutch, Dr. Earl F. Robacker, Shawnee, an authority on the Dutch and their customs and a member of the faculty of White Plains, N. Y. High School, last night brought to the members and their families many little known facts about the Dutch and their beliefs.

Dr. Robacker's talk followed a picnic supper held on the lawn of the home of Exchange Club President and Mrs. Adolph Rake above Marshalls Creek where the tables were set on the lawn overlooking the lake. The speaker was introduced by Horace G. Walters, who also gave the invocation.

Dr. Robacker pointed out that it is only during the past 20 years that the country at large has taken seriously the art forms and contributions of the Pennsylvania Dutch, and even now powwow is not taken seriously—except by those who still believe in its curative powers.

The word "pow-wow" is not Pennsylvania Dutch but Algonquin Indian, he said, but the superstitions and beliefs embodied in it were brought over by the Pennsylvania Dutch in the 1600s and have been passed down from generation to generation, many of them taken from signs of the zodiac.

They work, too, he pointed out for many of those who believe in "brachures", those persons with secret power for good or evil. Good brachures are the pow-wow doctors; evil brachures are witches, and those who work hexes. He cited examples of both beliefs, and the use of garlic in repelling witches.

Among the cures for warts, he listed slicing a potato with one half rubbed on the wart and the other buried under the water spout with the wart disappearing as the potato rotted.

Similarly a dead hand touched to a gutter would cause the gutter to disappear as the body of its owner decomposed, and one of the cures of enuresis in children was a tea made from the blood drained from the head of a rooster.

Dr. Robacker listed many other interesting superstitions including tokens of death: a knock on the door with no one there, a bird in the attic and a swarm of bees were among those he mentioned.

Here's How To Get Hit By Lightning

For adventurous souls who are curious about what it feels like to be hit by lightning, here are the recommended ways to find out:

Lunch in a wooded area; play baseball in an open field; fish in a boat on open water; work in a field; operate a tractor in an open field; gather the family wash from a clothesline attached to trees; stand on a porch or in a doorway; go swimming.

All these activities, of course, must be conducted while a thunderstorm is going on or there won't be any results.

Persons engaged in the activities described make up most of the approximately 300 persons killed by lightning each year.

About one-fourth of all the deaths occur among those who seek shelter under or near trees, according to an insurance company which compiled the statistics.

Lightning is a danger both day and night, but the greatest number of fatalities happen during the afternoon. The fewest in the morning. Four times as many males as females are killed.

In British administered islands of Oceania, head hunting was, until recently, a vital part of the ceremonial life of the people and its suppression led to social decay and a sharp reduction in population.

Crop Outlook Good Despite July Drought

Washington (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicted yesterday that crop production this year will be the third largest in the nation's history despite losses from a severe July drought that scoured vegetation in a broad Southern and Eastern area.

Prospects now indicate, the department said in its August crop report, that the total volume of all crops will be exceeded only by those of 1948 and 1949.

Except for the adverse weather conditions, which were more damaging to individual farmers affected than to the nation's total production—prospects might well approach the record set in 1948. As it was, the production estimate was cut 3 per cent from a month ago.

The department said declines in drought-affected crops such as corn, hay, tobacco and sweet potatoes were partially offset by improvements in wheat, barley, flaxseed, dry beans, sugar beets and sugar cane.

The prospects for the corn—the major feed material for meat and dairy animals and poultry—dropped about 7 per cent during the month, but wheat increased nearly 4 per cent.

Despite the setback in corn and in some other feed crops, livestock feed supplies for the year ahead will still be near the average of recent years. Hence, there should be no reduction in meat production, except possibly in drought areas where some farmers may not be able to finance purchases of feeds from other areas.

The department said that widespread rains through early August have tended to break the drought in much of the South.

Cheap Desalting Method Outlined By Geographer

Washington (AP)—The discovery of methods for taking the salt out of seawater at relatively low cost opens the way for turning bleak deserts around the world into rich farmlands, a Pennsylvania geographer said yesterday.

Dr. J. R. Smith, professor emeritus of economic geography at Columbia University, said California, Australia and Israel are areas most likely to profit from the large-scale use of desalted seawater.

Addressing the 17th International Geographical Congress, Smith, of Swarthmore, Pa., said researchers at Harvard and Massachusetts Institute of Technology have developed a desalting process which costs only "a fraction" of previous methods.

The experimenters have developed a filtering membrane made of coal tar and petroleum products which Smith said can desalt 1,000 gallons of seawater at an electric expenditure of 20 kilowatts, compared with 100 kilowatts for the next best method.

County Health Bureaus Held Need In State

Philadelphia (AP)—Dr. Russel E. Teague, Pennsylvania secretary of health, said yesterday that the most urgent health needs in the state are for public health departments in all counties, and increased facilities for the chronically ill.

He told President Truman's commission of health needs of the nation that the biggest obstacle faced by state health authorities is the shortage of trained public health personnel. The 15-man commission, which met in Philadelphia's City Hall, is headed by Dr. Paul B. Magnuson.

Dr. Teague said the average Pennsylvanian is in good health with possible exceptions in the field of tuberculosis and polio.

Tipsy Driving Charge Filed After Crash

Nicholas Von Apzinger, 53, Hawthorne, N. J., was taken before Justice of the Peace William N. Walton yesterday on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

The charge followed his arrest Sunday night by Stroudsburg borough police following a three-car accident on Main St. in front of the Indian Queen Hotel.

Police said Jay R. Megay, 18, Collegeville RD 2, was drawn up waiting for the Ninth St. traffic light to turn green. Behind him was the auto of James W. Sheppard, 32, of 911 N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg, a dentist.

The Apzinger car struck the rear of Sheppard's auto and pushed it into the Megay vehicle, police said.

Damages were $40 to the first car, $400 to the middle car and $125 to the Apzinger car, police said.

The collision occurred about 8:55 p. m. Only persons injured police said were Dr. Sheppard, a minor neck injury, and his wife, Anita, 30, a wrenched neck. Apzinger was freed on $300 bond pending further court action next month.

Cornerstone Box Opened

The cornerstone of the McComas Chapel, on Route 290 between Anasomik and Canadensis, was unveiled over the weekend after remaining intact since June 20, 1867.

The congregation which erected the chapel began meeting in 1855 at the home of Harrison Sebring. The group was known then as the Sebring Methodist Church, and Rev. Nicholas D. McComas was pastor.

When the chapel was erected and the original cornerstone laid in the dry-wall foundation, the structure was named McComas Chapel after the pastor.

The mason who laid up the chapel was Gottlieb Bohner. Trustees at the time were Samuel Postens, Daniel Long, Sebring, Josiah B. Snow, George W. Price, George W. Northrop and Rev. Edward F. Palen.

For the cornerstone ceremony, a man named John Clarke, of Oakland (now Mountainhome), made a box to be sealed in the cornerstone.

When the old stone was opened, and the box unfastened by the modern group, this is what was found:

Copies of the Monroe Democrat and Jeffersonian, both dated June 13, 1867, and both in good condition; a copy of a Methodist publication, "Good News"; a copy of the "Christian Advocate," a Methodist paper dated June 20, 1867; an 1849 edition of a Methodist hymnal; a small 1845 edition of the Bible, and a copy of "Methodist Discipline" published in 1866.

When the box is resealed in the cornerstone today, some news items will be added: A current copy of the "Christian Advocate," and a booklet of poems, "God's Temple," written by the present pastor, Rev. Claude L. Heilenman, who has been preaching the weekly sermons at the chapel since 1949.

The cornerstone was unsealed during the finishing up process of replacing the dry-wall foundations on three sides of the old chapel. The back section remains untouched.

Two Juveniles Run Away From Police Holding Them For Theft Of Stroudsburg Automobile

The report filtered back yesterday that two Scranton boys had been arrested in Hackettstown, N.J., driving a stolen Stroudsburg car.

The boys, aged 12 and 15, allegedly stole the car of Olaf Pedersen, 612 Bryant St., Stroudsburg, on Sunday and got as far as Hackettstown.

A reporter called Assistant Chief Orville Cox in Hackettstown for details:

"Were two Scranton boys picked up in Hackettstown in a stolen Stroudsburg car Sunday?" the officer was asked.

"That's right."

"Are you holding the boys now?"

"No."

"Did you turn them over to Stroudsburg police?"

"No."

"Scranton police?"

"No."

"Well, who'd you turn them over to?"

"Nobody. They ran away."

The assistant chief went on with these details:

"The motor was running very fast but the car was moving very slow. Also it was smoking. So Vreeland went over and found these two kids in it. It looked like the car was out of oil and water. It was one of those automatic shift cars, and these kids put it in low gear in Stroudsburg and then drove 35 miles to Hackettstown.

"They said they didn't know how to work the shift. We drove the car over to the parking lot but we haven't looked at it since. I guess it'll need a complete overhaul."

"We haven't got a place to hold juveniles in this county. So we took them to the municipal building. You can't put them behind bars when they're only 12 and 15."

"We notified the parents last night, but they haven't shown up yet. Nobody's come down here after them, we would have had to turn them loose anyway."

Officer Chester Vreeland was on duty on the main street Sunday night. An approaching car drew his attention.

"The boys said they hitchhiked from Scranton to Stroudsburg and then got the car. They were going to Newark to see a sister, they said. They told us they almost hit a coal truck on the way down."

"They slept on the borough council table last night 'cause there wasn't anywhere else. This morning we took some breakfast in to them. They talked some with the officers here."

"The fellow who was looking after them had to go to work, so he put them in a sort of a side room and locked the door on them."

"We were just going to investigate, you know. Try to find out something or see if we could get some one down to take the kids."

"But about noon today (Monday) they picked the lock on the door and ran away."

"I don't think you can hold juveniles for more than 24 hours. Yes, I think that's about the limit. So if nobody had come down here after them, we would have had to turn them loose anyway."

State Police To Arrest Truck Driver

Effort—Two trucks collided and caused total damages of $75 at 7 p. m. yesterday about two miles north of here on Route 115.

Brookhaven State police said one driver, Elsworth Gates, Morton, Pa., would be cited for failing to yield half the road to the other truck, operated by William Barnes, 49, Luzerne, Pa.

Barnes told police he was forced off the road by the other oncoming vehicle.

Scranton Couple Hurt In Canada

Aldershot, Ont. (AP)—Two American tourists were seriously injured yesterday in a two-car truck collision on a highway near here.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Huthmaker of Scranton, Pa., were taken to a hospital after their car was swamped by a truck driven by Murray Fringle of nearby Hamilton.

The truck sideswiped a car driven by Vincent Stranger of Mimico, then careened into the Huthmaker auto. The trucker and Stranger were not injured.

Huthmaker suffered severe chest injuries and a possible broken knee. His wife has chest injuries and a possible broken knee. Their car burst into flames after the crash but they were both thrown clear.

Hotel Office Looted Of $2,500 During Rush Hour

Columbia, N. J.—Police yesterday were seeking a thief who made off with $2,500 from the Columbia Hotel Sunday while patrons ate their dinners unaware.

Blairtown, N. Y., State police said the money was taken from the hotel office during the evening meal rush period. It was taken during the 20-minute interval while Richard Lutack, 22, son of the proprietor, was absent from the office. Lutack is also night bartender at the hotel.

He discovered the theft at 5:20 p. m., he told police, and added that he had made change from the money at 5 p. m. A padlock on a file drawer had been smashed, and a cash box taken from the drawer.

The sum stolen included about $300 in silver. Five office windows facing on the outside were all locked, police said, so it appeared that the thief had entered through the unlocked door connecting the office with the hotel lobby.

Proprietor John Lutack, a triple amputee who lost both legs and his right arm in a railroad accident several years ago, was busy elsewhere in the hotel at the time.

Saxons File Damage Suit Against Hay

A damage suit has been filed against George B. Hay, Delaware Water Gap, driver of a car which allegedly injured Gerald Saxon, 9, of 25 N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg, in a Stroudsburg accident last November.

Listed as plaintiffs in the trespass action are: Gerald Saxon, a minor, by Harvey M. Saxon, his guardian; and Harvey M. Saxon and Molly Saxon.

The Saxons' counsel, Forrest Mervine, filed the suit Aug. 1. The plaintiff's statement charges that young Gerald was walking west across N. Sixth St. at Quaker Alley about 3:35 p. m. Nov. 15, when he was struck by the north-bound car of Hay.

The statement declares that because of "permanent" injuries suffered in the accident, the boy will be unable to earn a normal living when he reaches his majority, and that the accident was a result of Hay's improper driving and inattention while at the wheel.

The action was scheduled for the September county court term.

Escapee From Farview Retaken

Scranton (AP)—An escaped inmate of the State Hospital for Criminal Insane at Waymart was recaptured yesterday by State police in swampland several miles east of the institution.

Dr. A. L. Hickok, medical director of the hospital, said Albert Rash, 51, surrendered meekly after he was located on a tip from farmers who said Rash had offered them a small sum of money to help his escape. He fled the institution Saturday.

Hickok said Rash was soaking wet and apparently had been unable to find shelter after trudging across Salem Mountain.

Miss Patsey Carney, of Kresgeville, was her maid of honor, with Mrs. Gladys Fraile, of Belfast, and Miss Kathryn Giffith, of Kresgeville, as bridesmaids. Her attendants wore strapless gowns with full net skirts, in shades of pale green, yellow and orchid and carried colonial bouquets of mixed flowers. Mae Bickford, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl and wore a dress of blue net and carried a tiny colonial nosegay.

James Powell, of Pen Argil, served as best man, and Luther Gower, brother of the bride, and William Bickford, brother of the bridegroom, both of Pen Argil, were ushers. George Bickford, nephew of the bridegroom, served as ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore a gown of aqua crepe with white accessories and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink crepe dress with navy accessories and a corsage of orchids.

You're Worth Your Weight In Gold, Girls

HELP WANTED: Domestic; Female: All cooking, cleaning, laundering, sewing, needle planning, shopping, chauffeur, Social secretary. Care of 3 children. Salary at employer's option. No time off.

No woman in her right mind would answer that ad, but Mrs. Average American Housewife has the job anyway. Working under conditions that make a busy executive's life look like a vacation.

79% complain of tiredness and depression. Yet 52% wouldn't trade jobs; only one in ten wants a full time career. The accolades they occasionally get from their bosses (husbands) make it worthwhile. In current article, "Marriage: Is It A Luxury or Necessity?" Peoples Today once again went to its permanent panel of Joneses across the nation to ask "What's Your Wife Worth In Cold Cash?" Experts agree that it's more than you can afford.

For instance: If you are a $2,000-a-year man—your wife is worth $100,000: Functioning as janitor, maid, laundress, cook, dietitian, personal shopper, nurse, child psychologist and budget director, her services are priceless. You cannot afford to replace her. You may earn the money, but she stretches it, makes things run.

If you are a $3,000-a-year man—your wife is worth $50,000. The last of the solo laborers, she could earn at least $100 a month as a maid or nurse for two children. Says a brickyard employee Jones, St. Paul: "I'd only get into trouble if I tried to put a price on her." He might be in more trouble without her.

If you are a $5,000-a-year man—your wife is worth $75,000. She's caught in the classic paradox. You provide trappings of comfort but can't afford help at law $1 an hour so she does everything—on a larger scale than her $2,000 a year sister. Even on "vacations" her work—cooking, cleaning, care of children—goes along.

If you are a $7,000-a-year man—your wife is worth $120,000. She cooks, does some of the cleaning (not the heavy work). She's beginning to enter a supervisory capacity. Industry, thrifter than husbands, pays good general managers $17,000 and up annually. As a decorator part of her job, she could name her own fee.

If you are a $10,000-a-year man—your wife is worth $14,000. She's better off than most. You probably pay $2,900 a year for cook-maid-nurse service, giving her leisure to make contacts that will advance you business-wise. Says broker Jones, L. A.: "On top of that I have to like her. She's got community property."

If you are a $25,000-a-year man—your wife is worth $45,000. She'll make your contacts and keep them, nurture your ego, create a charming background—and take payment in a milk coat—if she's lucky. It cost a "Frisco" bachelor $9,500 annually for good-will entertaining, $2,000 after he wed.

Certainly the nation's Joneses, wouldn't trade their wives in.

There in the gathering dusk, the bats started swooping, the shadows grew deeper and the lake shone ghostly through the trees; gradually the intent faces lost their identity and you could see only the gleam of eyeballs, the flash of teeth in their frequent smiles, and the only sound besides the speaker's voice was the whirl of leucists and the sound of knee-deeps and the splash of fish from the lake.

It reminded me somehow of the ghost stories we used to tell as children, scaring ourselves into pleasurable panics. In that crepuscular light, anything is credible, and had a witch joined the bats in their arabesques nobody would have been too surprised. Or too upset either.

As a matter of fact everybody was so full and contented that nothing would have disturbed them much. Tell you the secret of Mrs. Baker's feed tea, which made such a hit with the Exchange Club members. Of course part of it was the fact that she added a bit of gingerale and the juice of lemons already squeezed along with the sugar as she made it, but mainly it was the good spring water she made it with.

Ten gallons she made and the rats they were going back for more I'll bet they drank it all too.

Just Between Us

You couldn't imagine a more fitting setting to talk about witches than the lawn last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Rake when Earl Robacker was talking on Pennsylvania Dutch tokens and hexerei.

There in the gathering dusk, the bats started swooping, the shadows grew deeper and the lake shone ghostly through the trees; gradually the intent faces lost their identity and you could see only the gleam of eyeballs, the flash of teeth in their frequent smiles, and the only sound besides the speaker's voice was the whirl of leucists and the sound of knee-deeps and the splash of fish from the lake.

Waring Group To Present Benefit Show

Shawnee Jean and Lew Eley, violinists for Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians and Leonard Kranendonk, baritone with the Waring show will be among the featured entertainers to perform before an anticipated record-breaking throng tomorrow night when the curtain opens on the benefit performance at Stroudsburg High School.

Stated to begin at 8:30 p.m. the affair shows promise of being one of the musical highlights of the season and the cause for which the performers are contributing their service is for the Shawnee Volunteer Fire Co.

The husband and wife team perform a duet on the Waring concert tours which creates a mild sensation and are frequently featured in the Pennsylvanian's spotlight.

Born in Pittsburgh, 34-year-old Lew Eley was educated at the University of Miami and performed his first violin recital when 13 years old. After concert work at college and in various symphonies he joined the Pennsylvanians in 1945 and has been a regular member of the organization since.

His wife, Jean was born the daughter of a Lutheran minister in St. Paul, Minn., 25 years ago. She attended Augustana College and is a Juilliard graduate. Her parents now live at Rock Island, Ill. Mrs. Eley's first musical training came from her mother. She joined the Pennsylvanians two years ago after appearing with numerous symphony orchestras in all parts of the nation, including the famed Kansas City Symphony.

"The fiddlin' Eleys" as they are fondly called by the other 65 Pennsylvanians, met on a blind date and were married two years later. They own a five-room home at Great Neck, Long Island.

Kranendonk came to America from Rotterdam, Holland, with his family at the age of nine. They settled in a town of 700, Cushing, Wis. The baritone soloist first studied music in Holland and won a three-year scholarship of music with Madame Rose, famous voice teacher in Milwaukee, who now has a studio in Hollywood.

He next won a four-year scholarship at Wisconsin College of Music and studied voice under Miss Adele Strohmeier, still a faculty member there. Entering the Wisconsin State contest for singers he easily walked off with an all-expense paid trip to New York. Here he was heard by Nick Kenny who arranged an audition and Kranendonk joined the Waring Glee Club in 1939.

Deciding he would eventually like to become a music teacher, Kranendonk currently is studying for his degree at Columbia University. The Kranendonks' eldest son, Lt. Gerald, was killed in action in World War Two. They have two other children, Robert, 20 and Barbara, 18.

Other Waring entertainers who will appear on tomorrow night's program are Livingston Gearhart and Virginia Morley, duo piano team.

Gentlemen:

Here's my recipe or "Panacea" proposed to save 20,000 lives and 200,000 injuries per year now caused by the automobile:

After hundreds of thousands of miles of driving without injury to myself or anyone else over the past 50 years I believe I am qualified in view of my long experience and observations to make the following suggestions. In my humble opinion I believe the above lives and injuries COULD be saved IF this program could be ENFORCED on a NATIONWIDE scale and put into effect within 3 to 5 years:

1. Make it impossible for anyone to apply for even a learner's permit until he or she has reached the age of 18 years, and their application to be accompanied by their birth certificate.

2. STANDARDIZE, CO-ORDINATE and MAKE UNIFORM all stop lights, stop signs and traffic signals throughout the USA.

3. OUTLAW and ELIMINATE every R. R. GRADE CROSSING in the USA.

4. Make left-hand turns unlawful where three or more streets intersect.

5. Clear the streets and highways of all cars and trucks over 15 years old.

6. Every Casualty Company in the USA who write Automobile Insurance to be compelled by law to disallow claims where, in an accident, (fatal or not), it can be proved that the driver or drivers involved were intoxicated or were drinking hard liquor prior to taking the wheel.

7. On a National scale put into effect the "point system" for all drivers as now initiated by the State of New Jersey.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN G. HARL,

W. Phila.

Western Union To Close Office At Railroad Station

A subsidiary office of the Western Union which has operated in the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad station in East Stroudsburg for more than 26 years, will close this Friday.

Mrs. Howard Atwell, operator of Caramella's newsstand and store at 135 Crystal St., East Stroudsburg said that arrangements have been made to telephone Western Union messages from that source to the main office in Stroudsburg and to receive Western Union messages from the Stroudsburg office. Mrs. Atwell said "we took it to keep the service in East Stroudsburg as a convenience to residents and visitors."

She said messenger service would be provided.

Officials of the carrier confirmed yesterday that the subsidiary office will close on that date. For some years the Western Union service has been of a partial nature at the railroad station, servicing customers only portions of each day.

Unofficial reports here held that the Lackawanna is abolishing the job of messenger for Western Union and call boy which has been held for many years by Royal Hawell.

Lack of enough traffic to maintain the branch Western Union office and messenger service was given as the official reason for the closing.

An official of the railroad said the telegram flow at East Stroudsburg station had dwindled to the point where it is no longer possible to maintain messenger service. He said, however, that telephone

John Bedford Recalls Work On Old Bridge

Delaware Water Gap—Among the supervisors of the Delaware River bridge project here is John Bedford, veteran bridge foreman now in his 80th year who recalled yesterday the changes that have occurred since his early years in the business.

Bedford recalled the steam driven derrick and iron weight that drove wooden spiles for the old railroad bridge called "The Susquehanna." As a nine-year-old boy he said he watched the progress from the New Jersey side of the river and was informed by workers that the wooden spiles would not rot because they were to be immersed in water and kept uniformly wet. Bedford said a number of years later prolonged drought permitted him to examine the spiles and he found them as sound as when driven into the river bed.

Inn Host At Party, Dinner

Mount Pocono—The official opening of the High Point Inn and Parisian Sidewalk Cafe cocktail lounge will be celebrated tonight with a cocktail party and buffet dinner to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Geissinger, managing owners.

Special invitations for the opening party have been sent to the officers, directors and wives of many of the prominent business, professional and service organizations in Northeastern Pennsylvania, as well as to the members of the newspaper and radio press.

With the cocktail party scheduled for 6 p. m., followed by the dinner at 7 the entertainment will include dancing to the High Point Inn orchestra.

A general tour of the inn and its surroundings will be conducted with the future plans being outlined for all guests to get an idea of the High Point Inn of tomorrow.

The Parisian Sidewalk Cafe, termed one of the most unusual cocktail lounges in the East, resembles the famous Rue de la Paix in Paris, France, and gives the visitor a view of "Paris in America."

The inn is located on Route 611 at Mt. Pocono.

Farm-fresh Meals Always in Season with Home Freezer

Meals with that delicious garden-fresh flavor need not be restricted to summer-month menus now that there are electric food freezers to fit every family's needs. Meal planning, when it begins with fresh wholesome fruits, vegetables and meats at your fingertips from your own frozen food cabinet, becomes even a greater thrill in winter than it has always been in summer. Corn on the cob can become a winter-long favorite. June-fresh berries can enrich Christmas dinner.

Buy at Best Prices

Buying for the freezer can mean reducing a whole season's shopping for any one food to a single peak-of-the-season purchase because the freezer owner can do her buying when foods are most abundant and most flavorful, and prices, consequently, the lowest. For example, quality buying can be timed for just that day when strawberries are at their sweetest or corn at its tender best. Result, a freezerful of food at sizable savings and a substantial part of your food marketing done in single annual shopping tours.

Dorens of Freezer Uses

While most freezers are originally bought for these basic economies, they quickly demonstrate many other equally important advantages. For instance, complete meals for a number of days can be prepared and frozen to be used as wished. School lunches and party specialties can be packaged weeks ahead. Pies and cakes, biscuits and cookies can be baked or bought in several months' supply. Frozen, each keeps perfectly until needed, as delicious as when stored. Uneexpected occupancy is no longer a problem and "freezer families" soon learn that a variety of good food can be a year-round occasion, not just a mid-season treat.

Hickman Quits As Head Football Mentor At Yale To Enter Private Business Venture

By Lou Black

New Haven, Conn., (AP)—Big, 300-pound Herman Hickman, one of the nation's best known football coaches, quit Yale yesterday for private business.

Hickman, who only two years ago was given an unprecedented 10 year appointment by Yale, will be associated with the General Cigar Co. of New York City and—as often as possible, will help out at the university.

Successor

His successor here will be announced today.

Hickman is the second big name coach to quit in Connecticut for private business in two weeks. Art Valpey, former Michigan and Harvard football tutor, resigned at the University of Connecticut recently. He didn't say what his business would be.

The Hickman announcement came as a surprise to nearly everybody connected with Yale, and many others.

If there were any hard feelings over Hickman's action, which comes only a few weeks before the opening of football practice here, they weren't in evidence.

In fact, statements both by Hickman, and Bob Hall, Yale's athletic director, which were prepared here Sunday night before they left on a fishing trip somewhere on Cape Cod, Mass., were filled with compliments. Jolly Hickman leaves the head coaching job, which he assumed here in 1948, with a record of 16 victories, 18 defeats and two ties. He came here from West Point where he had been line coach. At the end of his first season at Yale his three-year contract was replaced by one for five years.

Appointment

Then, in 1950, he was handed a 10-year appointment, which would have extended through 1960 and paid him an estimated $110,000.

Hickman, a native of Johnson City, Tenn., starred as footballer at the University of Tennessee, and later with the professional Brooklyn Dodgers.

In addition to his work at Yale, Hickman coached many off-season all-star college teams, including the eastern college all-stars; the north team in the North-South Shrine game in the Orange Bowl, Miami, Fla., and the Chicago all-star team.

He has also been a familiar personality to television and has conducted a weekly radio sports program over a nation-wide network.

Boros Rallies To Defeat Middlecoff

Chicago (AP)—U. S. Open Champion Julius Boros, blasting brilliantly out of four sand traps, uncocked a crunching rally for a two stroke playoff victory yesterday over Cary Middlecoff for golf's richest prize, the $25,000 first money in the "world's championship of golf."

Boros blasted a four-under-par 68 to Middlecoff's 70.

Top Money

Boros, now golf's top money-winner of 1952 with $34,332, played possum for 13 holes to Middlecoff, the erstwhile top cash-collector. Then Julius overcame a one-hole deficit with a surge that won the 14th, 15th and 16th holes.

Middlecoff collected the $12,500 second money for a $27,739 year's total.

The 32-year-old Boros of Mid Pines, N. C., who plays with the swift, sure shots of Gene Sarazen in his prime, amazed a gallery of 4,000 with his nerveless play under $12,500 pressure. The difference between first and second place,

Sauer Leads Cubs To Win

Chicago (AP)—Hammering Henry Sauer smashed his 29th and 30th home runs to match his entire 1951 total in 141 games to pace the homecoming Chicago Cubs to a 10-2 victory over the third place St. Louis Cardinals yesterday.

A year ago the Cub slugger hit 30 homers and batted in 89 runs. His pair of round trippers yesterday, each coming with a man on base, lifted the Sauer total of runs batted in to 96—and the Cubs still have 46 games remaining.

Perfect Day

Sauer sandwiched a fifth inning single between his homers to enjoy a perfect day at the plate as the Cubs pounded three Cardinal pitchers for 13 hits.

After starter "Turk" Lown walked himself out of the game with three bases on balls in the fifth, Bob Schmitz came on to snare his second win.

St. Louis ..... 001 000 001—2 8 2

Swimming Schedule Set

Bethlehem—Lehigh University's swimmers will face a ten-meet schedule in addition to the Middle Atlantic and Eastern championship tournaments this winter. Percy L. Sadler, director of intercollegiate athletics, announced yesterday afternoon. Navy and Gettysburg will replace Fordham and Princeton in the 35th consecutive campaign.

Vander Meer Signs

Chicago (AP)—William Vandermeer, 19-year-old cousin of Johnny Vander Meer, has been signed by the Chicago Cubs for their affiliate farm team at Hickory, N. C., in the class "D" Western Carolina League. Like his famous cousin, the new Cub is a pitcher.

Blood Quota Tomorrow Set At 147 Pints

American casualties in Korea reached the 110,000 mark this week and Monroe County—along with the rest of the nation—was striving to keep its blood donations up to par.

LeRoy Mikels, Red Cross blood donation official, said hot weather has resulted in an under-quota return for the last two months.

To meet the county's yearly quota of 1,500 pints, Wednesday's monthly quota will be set at 147 pints instead of the usual 125.

If the quota is met, the "deficit" of the summer will be made up.

The bloodmobile will be at the Elks club in East Stroudsburg throughout the day, Mikels said he hopes to see a number of new donors—those who have not yet made a blood donation—as well as the "regulars" those volunteers who have made periodic donations throughout this year.
